PLEASANT END TO A HOT SUNDAY

In the relative cool of the evening this couple—and 800 others—attended the first summer concert of the Lincoln Municipal Band Sunday night at Antelope Park. Encores were given by both soloists, Virginia Duxbury singing

"My Buddy" and Jack McKie playing "Trumpeter's Lullaby." John Shidneck is director of the 35-piece band, which has scheduled concerts at Antelope Park the next 6 Sundays. Staff Photo by Willis Van Sickle.

MORE HEAT SCHEDULED FOR STATE

More hot weather is slated for Monday with little change in temperature over Saturday and Sunday's blistering temperature.

Highs are expected to range from 85 to 95 in the northwest to 90 to 100 in the southeast.

There will be widely scattered showers and thunderstorms Monday and skies will be partly cloudy.

The state high Sunday was 101 at Valentine. Every reporting station in the state recorded a 90-plus reading. Norfolk had 100. Lincoln's high was 95.

3 Youths Drown During State's First Hot Sunday

From Press Dispatches

The state's first hot Sunday of the summer resulted in the drowning of 3 youths, 2 near Cozad and one near Herman. All were swimming in lakes.

A 12-year-old Omaha boy drowned while fishing 5 miles west of Herman. Washington County Sheriff Rudy Fick identified the boy as Ralph Woodward, son of Walter Woodward.

At Midway Lake, about 6 miles southwest of Cozad, 2 teenagers drowned. They were identified as Lyle Johnson, 18, son of Mrs. Ethel Johnson of Gothenburg and Glenn Roether, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Roether of Eustis.

The 2 had gone swimming

A-Talk Prospect Brighter

Washington (AP) — Encouraged by a change in Russia's attitude, U. S. officials said Sunday the nuclear test talks due to open at Geneva Tuesday night might possibly lead to a break in the disarmament deadlock.

The negotiations are to be carried on by scientists of the United States and 3 western allies with scientists of Russia and 3 Soviet bloc countries. They should at least show whether the Soviet government means business when it talks about backing up a ban on nuclear tests with an international inspection system.

The Weather

NEBRASKA: Partly cloudy Monday, Monday night and Tuesday with scattered showers and thunderstorms west and extreme north Monday and south Monday night. Scattered afternoon and evening showers west Tuesday. Somewhat cooler west Monday and Monday night, but warmer west Tuesday. High Monday 85-95 northwest to 90-100 southeast.

with Jerry and Donald Johnson, brothers of Lyle.

Dawson County Attorney Paul Gerdes who investigated was told that Lyle Johnson called for help and that Jerry had gone to his rescue. However, Lyle broke away about 20 yards from shore and went down.

During the confusion Roether, who could not swim, disappeared. His body was recovered not far from shore.

Johnson's body was recovered about an hour and a half later.

The Cozad rescue squad was called but could not revive either of the victims.

Man Killed In Mishap At Beatrice

Beatrice, Neb. (AP)—A California man was killed late Sunday when the car in which he was riding left the road and went over an embankment 5 miles south of Beatrice.

Gage County Sheriff Ned Maxwell said the victim was William Gorbett. Gorbett's wife was hospitalized but apparently not seriously hurt, the sheriff said. The couple's 2 children were unhurt.

Maxwell said Mrs. Gorbett told him she was driving at the time of the accident and had pulled out to pass a car just ahead when that car also pulled out to pass another.

She said she lost control of her car on loose gravel on the shoulder of the road.

The death was Nebraska's 143rd traffic fatality of the year. A year ago Sunday there had been 123.

June's death toll now stands at 38, the highest ever recorded in the state.

U.S. Officials Ask Release

Havana (AP) — The kidnapping of 2 more North Americans was disclosed Sunday night as Fidel Castro's men continued their campaign to remind the outside world they are still active in their mountain hideout.

A total of 39 Americans and 3 Canadians were reported in rebel hands after a series of abductions that began last Thursday. This was the breakdown:

Twenty-eight American sailors and Marines who vanished over the weekend, 27 of them on an overnight picnic excursion in the Cuban countryside. They were stationed at Guantanamo Naval Base near Castro's Sierra Maestra mountain headquarters in southeastern Cuba. Another man was grabbed while walking outside the base.

Ten American and 2 Canadian engineers were seized Thursday at their isolated mining operation at Moa, on the northeastern side of Cuba.

Mill Officials

Two sugar mill executives were taken in separate kidnappings. One was identified as Daymond Elmore, 53, of Haynesville, La., who was said to have been seized near the Ermita sugar mill, 10 miles west of Guantanamo. Elmore is the mill's assistant manager.

The Canadian, identified as Richard Sargent, about 50, of Toronto, was said to have been taken from his home Thursday night. His wife was left in the house. Sargent was manager of the Central Isabel mill northeast of Guantanamo.

The U.S. Embassy was trying to enter into direct negotiations with the rebels to free the captives. If Castro's men follow their past tactics, the 42 should be released unharmed when the bearded rebel leader feels their kidnapping has achieved its maximum publicity value.

Air Strip

The kidnappings followed charges that the United States was allowing President Batista's forces to use the Guantanamo air strip as a base from which to bomb their mountain stronghold.

U.S. Ambassador Earl E. T. Smith, who has repeatedly denied that the United States was helping either side in Cuba's internal strife, said this was not true.

U.S. Consul Park Wollam left Moa to find rebels who could negotiate the release of the men. An embassy spokesman said late Sunday night that Wollam had contacted a reliable rebel source who told him the 12 engineers were in good shape.

But the embassy said there was no word of progress in obtaining the release of the men and no word of the missing servicemen.

Tankers Complete Record Sea Flight

... London-U.S. In Less Than 6 Hours

New York (AP) — Two U.S. Air Force jet tanker planes made a record sea flight from New York to London in less than 6 hours, 29 minutes and 51 seconds.

The British held previous records for the flights. They were established Aug. 23, 1955, by Capt. J. W. Hackett, flying a Royal Air Force Canberra jet bomber.

Hackett set a mark of 7 hours 29 minutes on a London to New York flight and 6 hours 16 minutes from New York to London.

The first of the 2 Air Force planes — the Alpha — flashed over Idlewild Airport at 1:20 p.m. (EST). Its elapsed time for the 3,460-mile trans-Atlantic flight was 5 hours, 51 minutes and 24.8 seconds.

The plane landed minutes later at nearby Floyd Bennett Field.

Pilots Alpha Col. Harry Burrell of Omaha, Neb., was commander of the flight and piloted the Alpha.

The Alpha's sister ship, the Bravo, streaked over Idlewild at 1:34 p.m. (EST). Its elapsed time for the trip was 5 hours, 53 minutes and 21 seconds.

Four of the planes — KC-135s — had been scheduled to make the roundtrip flight to England. The Alpha and the Bravo got away safely but the third plane crashed with the loss of 15 lives. Six newsmen were among them. The flight of the fourth craft was then canceled.

Memorial services for the victims were being held at Westover while the Alpha and the Bravo were in midocean on the return hop.

The Alpha averaged 587.72 m.p.h. for the flight from London to New York. Its top speed during the trip was 630 m.p.h. just after leaving London at 7:29 a.m. (EST). It bettered by 17 minutes its estimated time of arrival here.

Moscow (AP)—U. S. Ambassador Llewellyn E. Thompson Jr. awaited word from Washington Sunday to press for release of 9 American airmen forced down inside Soviet Armenia by 2 Russian jets.

Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko told Thompson the 9 were unharmed and are being well cared for. Gromyko charged the United States had made a crude violation of Soviet air space. He said the plane burned on landing.

In Washington, the Defense Department said there is no truth in the Soviet charge that the plane—a DC6A—deliberately violated Russian air space. It said the State Department was instructing Thompson to seek the prompt release of the 6 officers and 3 airmen aboard.

(The statement indicated the plane may have gotten lost in overcast weather while on a flight to Iran with a cargo consigned to the U.S. military and diplomatic missions in Iran and Pakistan. The flight originated in Weisbaden, Germany, stopped on Cyprus and was last reported over Adana, Turkey, at 1:23 p.m. (6:23 a.m. EST) Friday, the statement said.)

Thompson is expected to present the U.S. side of the incident and ask for the return of the crewmen and whatever is left of the plane.

The plane was intercepted by Soviet radar as it flew 105 miles inside Armenia Friday, the Soviet announcement said. It added that the plane ignored the Russian pilots' signals to follow them to the nearest airfield and flew another 50 miles before it was forced to land.

The Russians said the plane landed and burst into flames as the 9 Americans hopped out, the announcement did not specify exactly where the plane landed.

SHAH OF IRAN LEAVES HERE BY JET FOR EAST

The Shah of Iran, who arrived in Lincoln Saturday from Minneapolis, was put aboard the jet B-52 at the Lincoln Air Force Base Sunday by Gen. Thomas S. Power, chief of the Strategic Air Command here.

Donning a hard, white jet pilot's helmet and flight gear, Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlavi left Lincoln at about 10:53 a.m. and later landed at Westover Air Force Base in Massachusetts.

Having inspected SAC's underground control center at Offutt Air Force Base near Omaha Saturday, he is scheduled to inspect Westover as a part of his 12-day tour of the United States.

So far as a Strategic Air Command spokesman could recall, the shah was the first head of state to fly aboard a B-52.

The shah will go to Washington Monday to meet with President Eisenhower.

Labor Offered Me No Aid—McGinley

By Betty Person

Ogallala — Don McGinley, Democratic candidate for Congress in Nebraska's Fourth District, said Sunday that "no labor union has thus far offered me any money in my campaign, and I do not expect the offer to be made."

He made the statement when asked to comment on charges made by his Republican opponent A. L. Miller who had said his Democratic opponents "always get labor money, because union leaders have always listed me among members who have voted 'wrong' most of the time on issues in which they were interested."

McGinley, 42-term state legislator and Ogallala attorney and rancher, said Miller "has made other comments to the effect that the Democratic Party is mortgaged to the Reuther movement."

McGinley noted that a recent nationwide poll shows that a large percentage of Democrats running for national office are independent and conservative.

"It is obvious in this campaign just beginning, that Dr.

Miller is anxious to stick a label of 'radicalism on his Democratic opponent,' he commented.

"I'm not a member of any labor union group," McGinley stated, "but I'm not an enemy of the laboring man or legitimate labor unions."

"I charge Dr. Miller with taking an unreasonably biased anti-labor stand merely for the sake of popularity in this agricultural district," he continued.

Soviet Schools Easing Science Emphasis—U.S. Educator

By Bill Anderson

Contrary to American public opinion, schools of Soviet Russia do not adhere strictly to a science and mathematics curriculum, designed to drill Einstein's theory of relativity into the minds of Russian youth.

Although physics and calculus still stand high on the totem pole of Russian education, a definite shift is in progress, according to Dr. George Z. F. Bereday of Columbia University, who just completed a 2-month study of the Russian educational system.

The Polish-born educator, in Lincoln for a 4-day series of lectures and public seminars at the University of Nebraska, was a member of the 5-man commission headed by Lawrence Derthick, U.S. commissioner of education, which made a study of 25 Soviet schools.

While American educators, industrialists and government officials have repeatedly urged a science-mathematics marriage as the solution to declining U.S. prestige in the technical cold war with Russia, according to Dr. Bereday, Russian schools have pulled an about-face and are now emphasizing such courses as home economics and driver-education.

Why the shift in scholastic emphasis?

"Russian students have been unhappy about the strict theoretical course of study—they had been cut off from life," Dr. Bereday said.

"The Russian people have 2 choices as to what attitude they will accept concerning education. They can feel as slaves to their course of study, or be enthusiastic about higher education. They have chosen the latter course."

Dr. Bereday told The Star that Russian people "fear and respect" the United States and do not want war. Many people asked him why U.S. planes still approached Soviet frontiers and expressed concern over the readiness and massive power of the Strategic Air Command.

Dr. Bereday, associate professor of education at Columbia, is editor of the Comparative Education Review and joint editor of the Yearbook of Education.

Dr. Bereday will speak at 2 p.m. Monday in Love Auditorium on the University campus and will conduct 8 public seminars Monday through Thursday at 11 a.m. and 1 p.m., Room 415, Administration Hall.

Foreign Aid Slash Asked

Washington (AP) — The Council of State Chambers of Commerce Sunday urged that Congress slash by 760 million dollars the $3,950,092,500 in foreign aid sought by President Eisenhower.

In setting this figure, the council said the funds should be cut "no less than the average percentage by which Congress has cut these appropriations requests over the last 10 years." That average has been 19.3%, the council added.

A study signed by Eugene F. Rinta, director of research for the council, said past cuts have not impaired the mutual security program.

Rural Electric Bills Double In Decade

New Uses And Improved Service Add To Rise

Increased application of electricity to farm and farm home tasks and wider availability of improved telephone service during the last 10 years have almost doubled the bills that farmers are paying for these services, according to USDA Marketing Service statistics.

From 1947 to 1957, local telephone service charges increased 88%, from $2.05 to $3.85 per month. This has been due to general rate increases and conversion to higher cost dial service in many rural areas.

Average billing for long distance service increased during the period but not as much as local service charges. They have, however, shown a decidedly upward trend.

Phone Bills Zoom
Total monthly telephone bills zoomed up by 79% over the period, climbing from $3.26 in 1947 to $5.82 in '57. Except for 1954, each year since 1947 has shown an increase over the previous year.

Average monthly use of electricity went up 142% from 171 kilowatt-hours in 1947 to 414 in 1957, but the average bill rose only 91%. As a result, the average cost per KWH declined 21% from 3.22 cents to 2.54 cents in 1957.

"Step Down" Rate
The reduction in cost per KWH is primarily due to the "step-down" rate structure generally followed where the cost per KWH declines as more power is consumed.

The average monthly electricity bill advanced from $5.51 in 1947 to stand at an all-time high of $10.50.

REA Payments Rise
A recent USDA report stated that total payments to the federal government by the REA borrowers reached $1.12 billion on June 1.

This figure includes $672,773,590 repaid by borrowers on the principal of their loan obligation, $329,493,597 paid in interest and $127,079,367 paid in advance of due dates.

Electric service for the 5 millionth rural consumer was provided for in loans approved by REA to electric borrowers through April 10. REA-financed electric systems are adding more than 100,000 new customers annually.

Increased use of electric power by individual consumers has brought a sizable advance in revenues of the rural electric system. In 1953 sales totaled $363 million and in 1957—$529 million.

Helen O'Connell Hubby Is Held; Beating Charged

New York (AP) — A city magistrate ordered author Tom Chamales committed for psychiatric observation.

Chamales was arraigned in night court before Magistrate Joseph Martinis on a charge of simple assault brought by Chamales' wife, singer Helen O'Connell.

Miss O'Connell, a member of the cast of the Dave Garroway morning television show, charged Chamales beat her and knocked her down during a fight earlier Sunday in their Manhattan apartment.

Martinis at first set bail at $1,000 for a hearing Monday. After a conference with Miss O'Connell and her attorney, he recalled the case.

Miss O'Connell said she thought her husband was violent and unsafe. "I think he's dangerous," she said. She added she was concerned about the safety of their 2-2-month-old daughter.

Sen. Mansfield Hopeful Alaska Bill Okay Near

Washington (UPI)—Acting Democratic Senate leader Mike Mansfield (Mont) said Sunday he was "hopeful" Congress will add a 49th star to the flag this week by admitting Alaska to the union.

But even if the Senate fails to approve the House-passed Alaska statehood bill prior to a July 3 deadline, Mansfield said Senate backers would "stay with it until it is passed."

Mansfield made his remarks on the eve of the Senate's second week of statehood debate. He refused to label long-winded southern oratory against the measure, led by Sen. Strom Thurmond (D-SC) a filibuster.

"The southern boys have been considerate," he told a reporter. "There is no indication of a filibuster."

Mansfield said he hoped Alaska statehood proponents would remain silent in the days ahead in order to give opponents "a chance to make their objections clear."

Teen Gang Members Head To Summer Camp

New York (AP) — About 100 youths, including teen-ager gang members and some with court records, left by bus for an experimental summer camp in Pennsylvania.

The interracial group of youths, between 14 and 21 years of age, headed for Camp Centurion, near Bushkill, Pa. The camp started 3 years ago under the sponsorship of the city's Protestant Council as a new approach to combatting juvenile delinquency.

Ben Moring, 26-year-old negro "commanding officer" of the camp, commented: "We have some of the roughest guys in the city right now."

"We know what they've done and what they're capable of doing. But we show them what toughness really is: being able to face up to problems and assume a responsible place in the community."

IS YOUR STEERING SAFE —

ON YOUR CAR OR TRUCK?

Rough streets, low curbs and choppy highways can easily cause serious damage to the wheel and front-end alignment of your car or truck.

This damage, if not corrected, will cause excessive tire wear, engine drag and hard steering. So . . . for economy, ease of operation and safety be sure the frame and wheels are rightly aligned.

It Costs So Little To Ride In Luxury!

Can you afford their services?

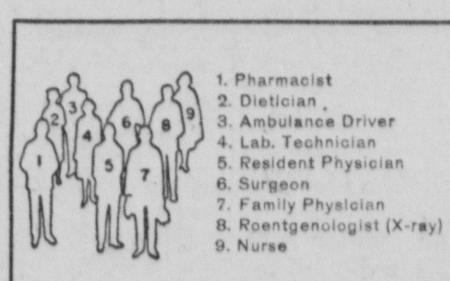

When you or your wife, or one of your youngsters is ill, you want the best care possible regardless of expense.

These days, sickness or accident might readily require the services of one or even all of the people shown above . . . and the cost of their services can add up.

The wise way to protect against the financial hardships of sickness and accident is through properly selected insurance policies designed to meet today's needs.

That is why Metropolitan is introducing two new policies which aim to help meet the heavy costs of major illnesses or accidents and apply to many items of expense not ordinarily covered.

The first of these new policies is intended for the individual or family who already owns one of the Metropolitan popular basic coverages for hospital and surgical expense. It provides a larger maximum amount payable in case of major illness or accident, where costs may sometimes run into thousands of dollars.

It also provides the additional advantage of payments toward medical expenses incurred at home, including nurses' and doctors' visits.

The second new policy is designed for the individual or family not yet covered by one of the Metropolitan popular basic medical expense plans.

Like the first new policy, it is designed to help you obtain for your family the necessary medical care in those circumstances which are apt to impose a serious financial burden. It, too, provides payment towards "at home" medical expenses. The benefits provided by both these new Metropolitan plans are at a cost within the average budget.

There is an insurance expert near you—your Metropolitan Representative. Call him today. He will be glad to tell you in detail all the features of these two policies.

Richard Kuplack owned an interest in the mine and had worked it early this year.

Dump Trash

Gillispie drove to the mine to dump some trash. He encountered the Kuplack brothers who were getting ore samples. An argument ensued during which Richard Kuplack allegedly accused Gillispie of making statements to prospective stockholders that the mine was no good.

Gillispie said he thought the 2 men were going to attack him so he whipped out his old fashioned .38 caliber pistol and fired 4 shots at them. Two bullets entered Richard Kuplack's body and a third grazed his head. The fourth bullet struck Stephen in the head. Richard died instantly. Stephen died about 6 hours later in St. Joseph's Hospital at Denver.

hearings starting Monday would seek to expose a widespread conspiracy of gangsters to gain an economic deathgrip on the nation.

"Information has come to us that there is an underworld syndicate which has infiltrated into some phases of the labor movement and into some businesses," he said.

McClellan emphasized that the infiltration was not general in either labor or management. But "if permitted to go unchecked," he said, it would become a threat to the national economy.

Sharp Questions

He said rackets investigators would throw sharp questions at underworld figures who attended an alleged crime convention at Apalachin, N.Y., in an effort to gain more information on the reported conspiracy.

At the same time, chief committee counsel Robert F. Kennedy disclosed that the first witness will be New York state police Sgt. Edgar Crosswell, credited with breaking up the meeting of gang leaders.

In all, the sweeping investigation will take in some 40 businesses and more than a dozen different kinds of labor unions. Up to 100 individuals have been served with subpoenas to testify.

McClellan, interviewed on the ABC TV program, "College News Conference," said some of the crime overlords who attended the secret meeting last Nov. 14 had fled the country.

Major Gathering

The meeting has been characterized as a major policy gathering of Mafia crime syndicate leaders.

McClellan said the fact that businessmen were included among the "delegates" indicated the syndicate had infiltrated management "in some areas" and that other legitimate enterprises "may be their victims."

"We have information that leads us to believe there is some tie-up" between the gangster organization and deported vice overlord Charles (Lucky) Luciano, McClellan said.

Integration

Washington (AP)—Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark) said he doesn't believe a majority of the people of Arkansas ever will happily accept racial integration in their schools.

But, McClellan said, "they may have to accept it some day by force. They may have to tolerate it."

The Arkansas senator made the statement in a TV interview (ABC-College News Conference) after saying U.S. District Judge Harry J. Lemley of Hope, Ark., made a "sound and just decision" in ordering integration at Little Rock delayed for 2½ years.

Meeting Monday May End 4-Day Bus Drivers Strike

Settlement of the Continental Trailways Central Division bus drivers strike is hoped to result from a meeting between union and company officials Monday in Omaha.

Tom Dyer, president of the Omaha local representing the bus drivers, noted however the company would have to better earlier union demands for a .55 cent a mile raise.

When the bus drivers began their strike Thursday at midnight they sought a 1½ cent raise. Members of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, the bus drivers received 7 cents per mile under their last contract.

The company offered a .25 cent raise to the drivers before negotiations ended last week.

Dyer indicated about 15 people including the presidents of the bus lines' divisions would attend the 10 a.m. meeting.

Affected by the strike is travel south and southwest of Lincoln although direct connections can be made to all points except Wichita.

Shock, Blister Result From 'Live' Door

A Lincoln woman received a severe shock and a blistered hand when she grasped the door to her trailer while barefooted.

Mrs. Maxine Munch, 24, who lives at the Shamrock Trailer Court, 2545 Theresa, suffered an electrical shock when she attempted to enter her trailer home about 9 a.m. Sunday.

According to police officers, who aided her, Mrs. Munch was unable to free her right hand from the door until the electrical wiring in the trailer had been pulled.

The police reported that the immediate cause of the shock was not known but it is believed a short in the electric water heater may have caused the trailer to become electrified.

Mrs. Munch was taken to St. Elizabeth's Hospital where her condition was described as good.

A Quiet Goldfine In D.C.

Washington (AP)—Bernard Goldfine, for the most part silent and unsmiling, arrived here Sunday night as his attorneys sought a one-day delay in his appearance before a House investigating subcommittee.

The Boston millionaire industrialist, gift-giving friend of presidential assistant Sherman Adams, is due to testify Tuesday before the House subcommittee on Legislative Oversight.

Roger Robb, one of Goldfine's lawyers, telegraphed Rep. Oren Harris (D-Ark), the committee chairman, asking that Goldfine be given one extra day to study what Robb called "the reckless character" of testimony given last week by Boston financier John Fox.

Robb said Harris had previously turned down the request. The lawyer asked that the full subcommittee be presented with the postponement request.

All Questions

When Goldfine left Boston late Sunday, he told newsmen at the airport he could answer all questions put to him by investigators "if my attorneys agree. I have nothing to hide."

His party of 10 on the trip to Washington included his wife; a daughter, Mrs. Cynthia Howard, Miami; Mrs. Howard's daughter, Cynthia, 11; and his secretary, Miss Mildred Paperman.

Goldfine was met by one of his Boston attorneys, Samuel P. Sears, who arrived here Sunday noon. Sears said before Goldfine's arrival that the industrialist would have nothing to say to newsmen.

Meantime, Vice President Richard M. Nixon declared there was no comparison between the Adams-Goldfine case and the mink coats and deep freezes of the Truman administration.

Nixon said there had been no proof that Adams granted any favor to Goldfine after receiving gifts from him.

On the other hand, Rep. Emanuel Celler (D-NY) said that Adams' usefulness was "at an end." He said the President should ask for his resignation "for the good of the nation."

But Celler added on the NBC television program "Youth Wants To Know," "the longer the President keeps Adams, the better it will be for the Democrats" politically.

Doubleday Gets Vote Of Loyalty

St. Louis, Mo. (UPI)—The Rev. James A. Doubleday, who took back his wife after her fling with a dashing cowboy, was absent from his pulpit Sunday but had a vote of loyalty and support from his church vestrymen.

Rev. Doubleday didn't show up at the 3 Sunday services in Grace Episcopal Church in suburban Kirkwood, which were conducted by Dean Charles Rakoff of the Dean of Christ Cathedral in St. Louis.

Meanwhile, Oscar Conrad, senior vestryman, announced that in addition to supporting the young minister, the vestrymen decided to give Rev. Doubleday a month's leave of absence to provide him an opportunity to take his family on vacation.

Money Missing

Still unanswered was the question of what happened to the minister's wife's inheritance.

The FBI has charged the money was stolen by Raymond Lewis Headspeth, 27, a good-looking cowboy who became a friend of Mrs. Doubleday in Reno where she filed suit for divorce last April 25. But Headspeth, who was arrested in Miami, Fla., Friday has insisted Mrs. Doubleday "gave" the money to him.

The minister's wife said the inheritance was in her car when the cowboy drove off and deserted her at a Tucson, Ariz., motel. But only $2,000 was found in the car when it was located in Phoenix.

Home Front Challenge

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

With foreign aid and reciprocal trade in the forefront of the news, there is a great deal of discussion of the living standards of other nations. It is argued that we have both a humanitarian duty and an economic need for helping to improve the life and welfare of all men.

These things are true and they are not far-fetched arguments for wasteful programs. But there are some other interesting aspects of the situation. In Washington, a House committee has approved a bill which would provide free food for the needy with Uncle Sam picking up the check. The bill will probably not get very much further and probably should not. The pitfalls in such a measure are many, to say nothing of the financial burden such a program would be on the United States.

But the measure does serve a purpose. It points out the sad fact that while we in America enjoy the highest standard of living of any people on earth, there are still many among us who are suffering from poverty. Take a look at any average American city and you will find more than enough examples of this condition.

There are children who are hungry, children who are cold in the winter, people of all ages who are sick and unable to provide for themselves. There are, too, many programs aimed at helping people in these conditions. But there is little, if anything, done with the thought of permanently eliminating such conditions.

Through expanded markets abroad the U. S. stands to gain substantially. It is hoped that foreign aid and reciprocal trade can contribute something to this market expansion. It can help other nations get their own industry on sound ground and can promote public works programs.

In this way, the people of these lands will become consumers rather than just a drain upon the economy. They will become consumers of American goods as well as the products of their own land. But the United States itself has a tremendous untapped market in the millions of its own people who are more of a drain on our economy than a contribution to it.

The per capita income in the United States is still under $3,000 a year. This is still fantastically high in comparison with many nations where the per capita income is less than $100 a year. But what would conditions be like if the U. S. figure could be raised to $5,000?

Of course, to accomplish the greatest good, this increase would have to come about in the lower end of the economy. It would be surprising if the present production level or potential of this nation could meet demands if hardship and poverty were removed from our land.

Think of the millions of people who buy only a few dollars worth, if any, clothing a year. New and modern appliances are never a part of the life of countless millions. Families have lived in homes that have gone unpainted for years and years or that still don't have modern plumbing. There are many boys and girls who have never owned a sled, bicycle, basketball or other toys. There are homes in which milk is rationed and meat is on the table only once or twice a week.

It would be a tremendous impact upon our economy if such conditions as these could be cured. Perhaps there are things which would make such an improvement impossible but surely conditions could be better than they are. What is needed is enough study and thought on the program to find the answers.

A Tremendous Need

Dr. Louise Pound

Few of us will leave this life with the fulfillment of purpose that was achieved by Dr. Louise Pound. Miss Pound was loved, respected and admired by all those who knew her. Within her 86 years she accomplished more in both a personal sense and for the world than most of us could do in twice her time.

She had a wide variety of interests and was generous in her pursuits for others. In her writings, her other work and her associations she gave to others the wealth of knowledge and experience that an active and constructive life had bestowed upon her. It is, perhaps, most fitting to say that she lived to better the world and in this was highly successful.

Miss Pound contributed immeasurably to the intellectual enlightenment of many thousands of students who came under her care and guidance during her 50 years of service to the University of Nebraska. She brilliantly carried on a family tradition of dedicated spirit and thirst for truth and understanding.

There was nothing in this world that seemed beyond conquest by Miss Pound. She was as widely known in the sports world as in the world of education and literature. She was by far one of Lincoln's and Nebraska's most distinguished citizens. Her death is an irreparable loss to her native Nebraska and to the nation. But she left with us an example of spirit and a life of accomplishment that will make her name and memory live forever.

Board Of Control Change

It was interesting to note that the Nebraska Presbyterian Synod has gone on record in favor of a proposed constitutional amendment which would bring the Board of Control under the direct jurisdiction of the State Legislature. This would be a change in the fact that the Board is now an independent agency charged with the responsibility of operating the various state institutions such as the State Hospital, Penitentiary, State Home For Children and others.

There is little argument with the fact that the Board of Control could be better than it is. This is a relatively simple assertion based on nothing more than the opinion that there are few, if any, operations which cannot be improved.

But the extent of improvement to be realized from a change to statutory regulation of the board is open to some debate. The one great difficulty encountered in such a change is the potential for political manipulation of the affairs of the Board of Control.

Iowa Follows The Trend

A trend toward rural control of raw food marketing is showing strength again as benefits from government farm programs grow more elusive.

The Iowa Farm Bureau is the latest to get into co-operative marketing and has announced a program aimed at getting a better price for top quality hogs. It is following the lead of Indiana and Illinois where the movement is already well developed. Illinois farmers marketed co-operatively more than a million hogs last year.

The plan is simple in principle. Producers band together, ship their marketable hogs to a concentration point where experts both in grading and marketing take over the job of feeding the supply into the market.

The basic requirement for a successful program is volume—sufficient control of the general product to have marketing effect. Incidental to that but certain to follow is general market planning and the control of surpluses by self-discipline.

If the Legislature controls the board or sets down the regulations under which the board can operate, there would be no end to the possibilities of abuse.

Perhaps these abuses would never materialize but there seems to be little need for advancing the potential by a change in the board jurisdiction at this time. Both political parties in Nebraska are on record in favor of changing from a non-partisan to a partisan Legislature. Whether this is good or bad, it is a possible development and would make the proposed Board of Control change even more dangerous.

The various state institutions would offer the greatest of all opportunity for the payment of political debts. The extent of operations of these institutions would provide a wide field of opportunity for rewarding of the faithful party worker or satisfying the desires of heavy contributors. It is hard to see how the proposed constitutional change would be any improvement.

Frequently in the past, rural producers have tested the possibilities of co-operative marketing, and with success in limited instances. At the outset of such plans there is a great willingness to accept production discipline which frequently wanes later. But discipline, self-imposed or externally enforced, usually follows the classical lines followed by voluntary federal farm programs. The more hopeful aspect in these recent efforts toward co-operation is that the private venture deals directly in the market while federal programs have remained a step short of that, choosing to bolster the free market by withholding surpluses.

Which is the better way will ultimately be demonstrated. The vice of a controlling co-operative marketing program is the temptation to soak the market rather than place the public interest first.

Facade

An important part of Russia's increased influence in the Near East can be traced to its claims to generous treatment of Moslems. To visiting rulers it shows several villages where mosques abound and good will lards up everything. Such a village was shown to President Nasser on his recent trip to Russia. He was impressed.

But hardly had Nasser left for home than Prof. L. I. Klimovich on a Soviet Home Broadcast from Radio Moscow, asserted:

"These remnants of the distant past must not exist in our socialist state. It is clear, comrades, that under our conditions Islam, like any other religion, is a remnant of a society which the Soviet people have left far behind."

Ike Takes Exception To Admiral's Views

WASHINGTON — Pink-faced with fury, President Eisenhower verbally ripped the brass buttons off his Pacific commander, Adm. Felix Stump, the other day at a secret strategy session at the Quantico, Va., Marine base.

Ike strode into the conference room while Stump was reporting on the Far East. "The Pacific is vital to the security of the United States," the admiral had just finished saying.

Not the least cowed by the President's presence, he added bluntly: "Asia can be lost, but does not have to be—if we do the right things and do them in time."

"We have only fringe friends left in Asia," he charged, "and we are not backing them up."

He told of a visit with the Shah of Iran who had complained that America "tends to go to extremes" and cannot be depended upon. The State Department takes a position for or against, then plunges ahead on a policy line that permits no middle ground, Stump quoted the Shah as saying.

By this time, the hair was bristling on the back of Ike's neck, but Stump went on. "Our naval forces in the Pacific are inadequate," he declared. He complained that his carriers were "wearing out," yet he lacked funds to repair or replace them.

"This talk of Army reduction in the Pacific," he added; "is unrealistic unless the forces are more than replaced by modern weapons."

Stump ended up with a sharp warning against "our shortsighted disregard for our own security."

The President stomped up to the rostrum and acknowledged that he had a few things to say which might take 20 minutes or so.

Then, referring to Stump bitingly as "that admiral,"

Ike blistered him for his "narrow, parochial views."

"Anyone who takes a narrow view that one area should have priority over another," he snapped, "is not thinking right. We have no priorities."

Later he contradicted himself by stating that we have only limited funds and "must let first things come first."

Ike was so furious that he kept tripping over his tongue and jumbling his words. After 10 minutes of letting off steam, he began to cool off. He ended up with a plea for teamwork.

Several generals and admirals came away with the impression that, in the struggle against world Communism, Ike seemed more concerned about team play than winning.

GERMAN IRE ROUSED

Warning Secretary of State Dulles not to treat "our wishes so lightly," Count Heinrich von Brentano snorted his disapproval the other day of a compromise plan to pay German industrialists $150,000,000 for war-seized property.

Von Brentano demanded an accounting from Dulles of what he was doing to return $600,000,000 worth of German property that had been confiscated as World War II reparations. Von Brentano's words carried a veiled threat that Germany could make it uncomfortable for American policy in Europe.

Dulles tried to smooth over the rupture by backslapping Von Brentano out the door and promising to advise him personally of future decisions.

As a result of the German demand for the whole pie instead of a juicy slice, he may now get nothing at all.

New Scientific Screening For The Artistic Hopfuls

NEW YORK — Sometimes, as one surveys the thousands of youthful, hopeful destitutes along Broadway, it seems that every kid from the outlands who could sing in a choir, or could hold his own in a high school play, has hitched his way to New York.

They had their reasons, you know. His mother thought his singing was divine. Her sweetheart kept saying how she was a real gorgeous doll. Their elocution teachers—bless their dear old prejudiced hearts—claimed they were the greatest things since Jackie Coogan and Baby Rose Marie.

So into the Great White Way melee they come. Dreamers, wishful thinkers, all, open for bilking by the phony agents, milking by the unscrupulous "coaches." It's not like it was back home. To get flattered and keep your hope up in New York, it costs money.

An experienced choreographer, director and writer named Ted Adair decided a long time ago that something should be done. As far back as 1947 he was making the rounds of his friends and putting it to them: "There are vocational tests for all the other fields and professions. Are singing, dancing, acting, writing and painting such nebulous talents that they can't be analyzed?"

Ten years later, backed by a staff of TV, Broadway and Hollywood executives, plus a number of psychological consultants, Adair opened up the first service of its kind anywhere. The "Bureau of Artistic Aptitude Testing."

Here, on West 46th Street in New York, anyone with $45 and a real desire to hear the truth about his potential in any field of the arts, can take a six to eight-hour test and learn the brutal—or encouraging—facts. Written tests are followed by "performance tests" before judges, and psychological tests, before psychologists.

The results are three to four-page analyses which tell frankly whether the aspirant is capable of making a successful go at the art form he is pursuing—or hopes to pursue. They appeared to be to be almost cruelly honest. Adair says they are only completely realistic:

Wonders Of The Universe

The failure of the third stage of Vanguard II to ignite was blamed on a faulty wire. No reason, however, has been advanced for the failure of the last stage of Explorer II. Let's examine a little-discussed problem in high altitude rocketry and in the process suggest what may have happened.

Liquid rocketry fuels can be divided into two broad classes—hypergolic and non-hypergolic. Hypergolic are those which, when united, will ignite without outside agency. The non-hypergolic fuels are usually cryogenic, i.e., they are low temperature fuels. To ignite these, they must be united and fired from some other source.

No liquid-fueled rocket using cryogenic materials has ever been successfully ignited at high altitudes. The Vanguard does use a liquid propellant in its second stage which is activated at 35 miles, but it is hypergolic, consisting of nitric acid and hydrazine which ignite spontaneously when united.

Ordinarily when a large rocket is fired, a device called a "Christmas tree" is inserted into the nozzle of the motor. This is an elaborate assembly of many squibs that are electrically ignited by remote control. When the mixed fuel comes in contact with the squibs, the fuels ignite and the "Christmas tree" is blown out of the motor.

The Atlas (our intercontinental ballistic missile), the Air Force Thor, and the Army Jupiter use liquid fuels which are ignited on the ground. The Jupiter is the first stage of the Explorer; the other three stages use solid propellants, and these require considerable heat from electric squibs before they will ignite. Even with solid fuels, ignition is difficult and by no means certain, because of the exceedingly low pressure of the atmosphere at high altitudes.

I have discussed this problem with one of the most astute rocket engineers in the country, Dr. H. W. Ritchey, Technical Director of the Thiokol Redstone Division at Huntsville, Ala., and he had some interesting comments about the difficulty of igniting rockets at high altitudes.

The near-vacuum lets the combustion products diffuse very rapidly, before they have time to concentrate at the point where great heat is needed for igniting the fuels. There are devices holding the squibs in contact with the fuels to insure ignition, but obviously these are not 100 percent reliable.

Dr. Ritchey said that when his research group first realized the seriousness of this problem, they actually tested the ignition of fuels in a vacuum chamber to simulate high altitudes. To illustrate, try to imag-

New Era Of Trade And Culture

MOSCOW—Aside from the orbit of politics where just now the differences seem to be accentuated, two other approaches are being explored in an effort to bring the east and the west closer together. One is culture, which is very much in the news, and the other is trade, which promises to become increasingly important.

Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev is too much of a realist to have expected a favorable reply to his letter to President Eisenhower on trade suggesting that credits might be made available to facilitate Moscow's purchases of American machinery. This was an advertisement to the west that Russia was ready to do business.

It showed also a shrewd awareness of the recession that has slowed down the current of industry in America and is beginning to retard the flow of trade in Europe.

Khrushchev was bidding for machinery to build up Russia's consumer-goods industry, with emphasis on artificial fibers for more clothing. A competition has begun between the representatives of half a dozen western powers to get those orders.

The firm of Alfred Krupp in West Germany, which has expanded so aggressively since 1949 in almost every corner of the world, has sent a strong team to Moscow to negotiate for contracts Krupp, with the prestige of the West German government behind its trade negotiations in more than 20 countries, is believed to have the inside track.

But the British firm of Courtaulds, specializing in textiles and textile machinery, has also had a team negotiating for contracts. Because of the size of the proposition put up by the Russians, the British have joined forces with American textile machinery interests headed by Van Korman. The French and Italians, too, have had representatives here angling for business.

The Russians are doing some tough horse trading. The British were told that if they could not meet the price estimates set by the Russians, then Krupp would meet them. And despite the cartel agreements between Krupp and top British interests covering prices in the international field, the strong suspicion is that this is true.

The shrewd bargainer directing these negotiations is Anastas I. Mikoyan, who is No. 2 in the presidium of the supreme Soviet.

Mikoyan's attitude on trade with the United States is similar to that of Khrushchev on a summit meeting—it's all up to America now.

A fairly fundamental difference on policy does exist on this matter. The British would like to abolish virtually the entire embargo list, leaving on it only goods directly useful in war. The United States continues to favor maintaining the present list.

But no matter what the official attitude in the west, it seems certain that in one way or another there will be considerable expansion of trade between the east and the west, with western specialists and technicians coming in to help construct large-scale plants for consumer goods.

Whether this is also true in the cultural department, where a sizable start has already been made, is a question that gets down to the differences between the two systems. Americans, including some ordinary tourists, are beginning to come here in increasing numbers as a result of Russia's new relaxed policy on visas.

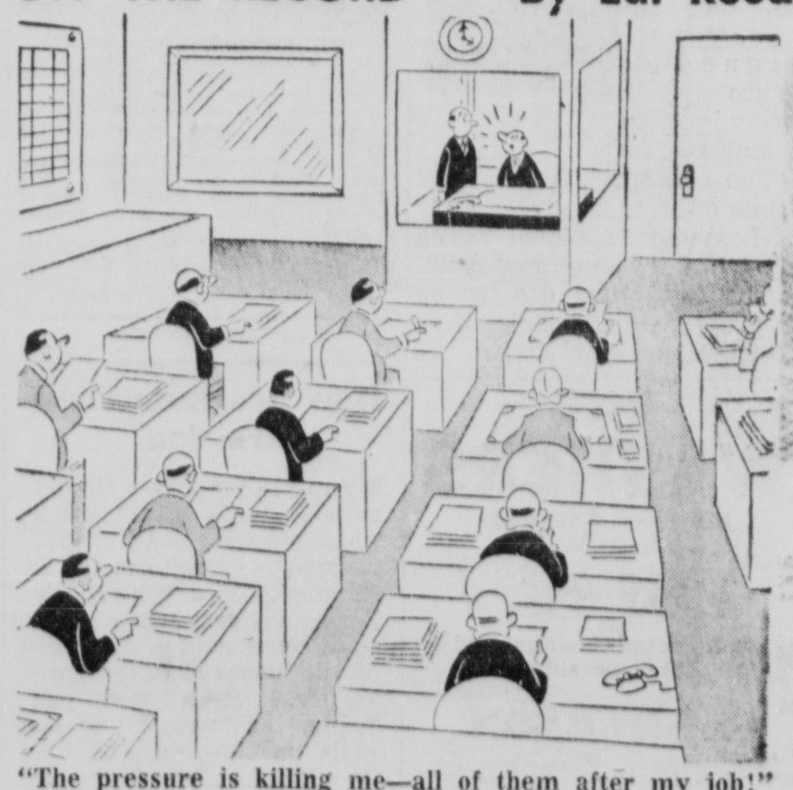

Alexander Nikolavitch Kusnetsov, who negotiated the cultural agreement in Washington and who is now acting head of the committee on cultural relations with foreign countries, says that a tour of the United States by Soviet citizens is being organized.

But it is when the cultural exchanges mean equating American institutions and Soviet institutions that difficulties arise. Thus Kusnetsov speaks of how, from the Russian side, the desire is still strong to exchange dele-

V.P. Scotts At Suggestion Ike May Retire Before Term Ends

... Nixon Optimistic On Economy

Washington (AP)—Vice President Nixon said suggestions President Eisenhower may retire before the end of his term in 1961 are nothing but "hog-wash."

Nixon, who appeared on a filmed television program with Rep. Kenneth B. Keating (R-NY), said: "I have never heard anything so ridiculous."

No Strike Seen Here By Goodyear

Ben Stephens, manager of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co. plant in Lincoln, said he believes current disputes over contract negotiations will be settled without a strike in Lincoln.

About 500 members of the United Rubber Worker Union, Local 286, employed at the Lincoln Goodyear plant may go on strike if negotiations are not satisfactory according to union officials.

About 90% of the Lincoln union members voted in favor of the strike, which will take place at midnight Monday, July 7.

Authority to call strikes against the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co., and B. F. Goodrich Co., has been given to contract-negotiating committees meeting in Cleveland, Ohio.

Indian Program Outlined

... At Pierre Meet

Lincoln Star Special

Pierre, S. D.—A far-reaching action program for the coming year was set this weekend by more than 300 Indians and non-Indians of Nebraska, South Dakota and North Dakota at the first annual "We Shake Hands" conference.

Indian and non-Indian leaders decided to expand during the coming year actions in 2 test areas at Winnebago and Macy in Nebraska and at Pine Ridge in South Dakota and to spread the program to other reservations in the 3-state area.

The following actions for the coming year were announced Sunday at the conclusion of the 3-day sessions:

1. Taking "concrete yet small first steps" to help individual Indian communities develop long-range economic development programs. The action will be taken on reservation at a time and will begin at the Omaha reservation at Macy, Neb.

2. Continuation of a school curriculum study which expects to offer accurate materials about American Indians for use at schools.

3. Formation of women's groups for voter education and formation of units of the League of Women Voters.

4. A youth program in cooperation with the Bureau of Indian Affairs Tri-State Youth Conference, and formation of additional junior tribal councils similar to those already formed at Winnebago and Macy, Neb.

5. Spreading of information about Indians and their activities through a speakers bureau and public relations committee.

6. Committees to work for improvement of the situation of Indians in urban centers, for union and employer relations and for church relations.

The final conference session Sunday heard Miss LaVerne Madigan of New York City, executive director of Association on American Indian Affairs say that, "The voices of Indian people are full of hope and determination... more than I have ever heard them."

The association is the sponsoring group, in connection with the Midwestern Intertribal Council of "We Shake Hands" which is described as, "an action to improve relations between Indians and non-Indians in the Great Plains."

The 3-day meeting featured discussions on a wide range of Indian problems, a keynote address by famed anthropologist and author Oliver LaFarge, who is president of the Association on American Indian Affairs and a play especially written for the conference.

Don't miss it. News of friends on vacation, marriages, engagements, PTA notes and club meetings makes good reading in the "Sunday Journal and Star."

Ground-Breaking Held For Trinity Episcopal Church

Ground-breaking ceremonies were held Sunday for the new $480,000 sanctuary, parish hall and educational unit of the Holy Trinity Episcopal Church, to be located at 60th and A.

The ceremonies followed the regular worship service, which was held at Millard Lefler School. Excavation and foundation work for the new structure will begin immediately, according to church officials. It is hoped that the structure will be finished by September of 1959.

The church sanctuary will provide seating for 500 people, and will house 9 classrooms, guild room, choir rooms, and sexton's quarters. The parish hall unit will include a lobby and administrative offices and kitchen.

The educational unit will include 6 classrooms and other facilities.

The structure will be of Colorado redstone and will have a 100-foot steeple and tower. Plans also include a $56,000 organ.

The new church will replace the 1888 building which was destroyed by fire in January of 1957.

The field day was held as a contest to see how many radio stations over the nation could be contacted. The results will be published later in the fall.

The event was held at East Vine Street, in an open field.

Had Morning Wedding

MRS. THOMAS MARTIN BRADY

Arrangements of pink and blue majestic daisies appointed the altar and chancel of St. Cecilia's Church in Omaha where the wedding of Miss Sarah Jane Sampson, daughter of Mrs. Herbert M. Sampson of Omaha, and Thomas Martin Brady, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl H. Brady of Lincoln, which took place on Saturday morning, June 28. The 10 o'clock ceremony was solemnized by the Msgr. Ernest J. Graham, and the wedding music was played by Mrs. Winifred Traynor Flanagan.

Miss Mary Fogarty, the maid of honor, and the bridesmaids, Miss Mary Margaret Brady of Lincoln, sister of the bridegroom; Miss Kathryn Laux, and Miss Anne Nielsen of Columbus, O., wore alike frocks of blue silk organza over matching taffeta. Beneath the fitted bodices, designed with bibs of white embroidery, the wide skirts were ballerina length. They carried crescent bouquets of pale pink carnations.

William Krueger of Lincoln served Mr. Brady as best man, and the ushers included Richard Sampson of Los Angeles; Patrick Martin of Wahoo, and Fred Schneider of Lincoln.

The bride chose a gown of white lace over white taffeta for her wedding. The sabrina neckline of the long-sleeved sculptured bodice was fashioned of lace motifs embroidered with seed pearls, and the skirt extended into a cathedral train. A crown of pearls and sequins held in place her tiered veil of illusion, and she carried a crescent bouquet of white carnations.

Following a honeymoon

Off To Camp

Leaving today for Aspen Glen, Colo., where they will spend a week camping will be seven members of Girl Scout Troop 102.

The girls will be accompanied by their leaders, Mrs. John Hossack and Mrs. Wallace Johnson. Mr. Hossack and Mr. Johnson.

Bride At Candlelight Service

MRS. GEORGE RAYMOND MAUL

The marriage of Miss Sandra Kay Karnopp, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard J. Karnopp, to George Raymond Maul, son of Mr. and Mrs. George J. Maul, took place at a candlelight service on Sunday evening, June 29, at the Southminster Evangelical United Brethren Church. The 7 o'clock ceremony was solemnized by the Rev. Marvin Herrick before a background of orchid and yellow gladioli arranged against greenery.

AROUND THE TOWN

On The Guest List

—the weatherman no sooner had mentioned his plans for a warm week end than a young set feminine sixsome came forth with plans for a party. Warm evenings are good for swimming, and since the pool at Irvingdale Park was available at 9:30 o'clock on Saturday evening, that's the time and the place the party was held.

The hostesses included Mary Alice Crabill, Kit Thompson, Karen Lind, Sue Hardin, Cordy Seward and Kay Liebers.

Following the swimming there were refreshments for the 80 guests.

—and the word "guests" brings us to Mr. and Mrs. J. Leslie Grainger who arrived very early on Friday morning from Salinas, Calif. Mr. and Mrs. Grainger will be the guests of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Browne, Jr.

But that isn't the complete Grainger story. Mr. and Mrs. Grainger were accompanied to Lincoln by their two grandsons, Bill and John Grainger, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Grainger (Sally White) of Salinas, who are the guests of their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter W. White.

The two young guests will be joined here later by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Grainger who will accompany them home. —before we leave the subject of guests we want to mention Mr. and Mrs. V. Royce West and their daughter, Vicki, of Evanston, Ill. Mr.

and Mrs. West and their daughter, accompanied by Miss Mary Margaret Walker of Fairbanks, Alaska, spent several days as the guests of Mr. West's father, Dr. Victor West. They returned home the past week end.

—hear that Tuesday is something of an extra-special day at the Lincoln Country

We Hear That

George and Joe Stroh, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Al Stroh, planed to Kansas City to spend the week end as the guests of their uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Henry F. McElroy. The boys attended a major league baseball game, and will return home today.

Mrs. Millicent McCormack left a few days ago for Seattle, Wash., where she will serve as summer counselor at a camp for children located near Seattle. In Seattle she was the guest of her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Richard A. Fisher.

A post-nursery shower was on the social agenda for Mrs. Norman Stones when she was honored at the home of Mrs. Max Hulbert where Mrs. Hulbert, Mrs. William Zeltz, Mrs. Dean Tompkins, Mrs. A. W. Wilson and Mrs. Rosemary Mapstead were co-hostesses. The guests were a group of ladies in the suburb.

The Star In Suburbia

Vacation plans, past and future, again are highlighted in this mornings news from Cotner Terrace and Northeast Heights, but before we look to our travelers—

COTNER TERRACE

A new arrival in our suburb this week is Miss Tammi Jeanne Rothwell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Rothwell, who joined the ranks of the tulum powder set on Thursday, June 26, at Lincoln General Hospital. Among Tammi's most ardent admirers are her sister, Susan Ann, and brother, Stephen.

The young lady's paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Lee Googe of Alton, Kan., and Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Slay of Springdale, Ark., are the maternal grandparents.

Planning a trip to Minnesota during the July 4th weekend are Mr. and Mrs. James Rodzielski and their children, Jeff and Jane. The Rodzielski family will visit at the home of Mr. Rodzielski's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Jandel, in St. Paul.

Speaking of vacations we hear that Mr. and Mrs. Leland Ward and their daughter, Patti, returned home from a week's holiday in Minnesota Saturday June 21. The fishing trip took the family to Lake Lida, and other Lincolinites visiting at the lake were Mr. and Mrs. Homer Ward, Jr., and their three sons, Larry, Den-

Club—On Tuesday, the usual ladies' day for the 18 holes group, will be joined by the feminine golfers who limit their play to nine holes—and whose ladies' day is on Thursday. Serving as hostesses will be Mrs. Jack Stewart and Mrs. Oliver Brown.

Following a morning of play the two groups will remain at the club for luncheon.

P.S. The nine-holers will have their ladies' day as usual on Thursday when the hostesses will be Mrs. Tom Sweeney and Mrs. Al Glandt.

—in the travel department this morning we find the names of Miss Dorrie O'Brien, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Craig O'Brien—and Miss Lisa Kilbourne, who left on Sunday to spend a few weeks at Camp Bryn Afon, at Rhinelander, Wis.

and Bob, and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Cudaback and their daughter, Judy.

Understand that early last week Mrs. Ray Uhlhorn (Rita Lehr) left Lincoln for Camp Kiwanis near Milford to assume her counseling duties.

On Sunday Miss Diane Lehr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Lehr, and a friend from Omaha, Miss Janice Brown, joined fellow Camp Fire Girl friends at Kiwanis.

NORTHEAST HEIGHTS

We hear that Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Farr and their children, Cathy and Guy, have returned from a trip to Hastings. The foursome visited Mr. Farr's mother, Mrs. Bertha Farr, and his brothers-in-law and sisters, Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Wise and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Steepleton, and their families.

Incidentally it was only a short time ago that Mr. and Mrs. Farr settled in their new home at 3011 No. 60, so they really do warrant an introduction to Northeast Heights neighbors. Suburban living is not a new experience for the Farris however, for their former home was in Eastborough.

Take one perfect summer day, round up a dozen or so friends, add one swimming pool (with water) and you have the ingredients of a delightful party — one just like Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Luikart, Jr., had at their home on Saturday.

Guests were invited for sunning and swimming at 3 o'clock followed by a patio dinner, and an informal evening.

Dear Abby . . . 50 Years Of Wedded Bliss Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My brothers and sisters and I all got together and gave a big golden wedding party for our parents. The old folks got into a fight and my mother refused to pose in the same picture with my father. The photographer charged us $20.00 to come out here with all his equipment. He took some shots of some of the other guests but he never got one of the golden wedding couple. Do you think we have to pay him his full price? (P.S. Will you give Mom and Pop a little advice on how to get along together?)

DEAR WAITING: The photographer's time is money and there's no reason why he shouldn't be paid his full fee. When the old folks kiss and make up (and they will!) take them to the studio for a picture. (P.S. Any couple who has stayed married for fifty years doesn't need any advice from me.)

DEAR ABBY: I read the letter where the woman said she wanted to get twin beds because her husband was big and fat and she couldn't get a night's sleep with him in the bed. I had the same problem. I bought twin beds and now I wish I had my regular double bed back because my husband gets lonesome and crawls in bed with me anyway. It was a lot more comfortable for two people in a full-sized bed than in one twin. S.R.T.

DEAR ABBY: Please print this for the woman who signed herself "TIRED." Madame. My husband weighs 100 pounds more than my husband. We suffered in a double bed for six years. I spent most of my nights on the sofa or playing leap-frog over all 350 pounds of him. Forget twin beds! Get yourself a king-sized bed if you have to beg, borrow or steal the money. You won't know what a good night's sleep is until you do. NOT TIRED

DEAR ABBY: In your column you say that the adopted child was "wanted twice — first by its real mother and again by its adopted mother." This in my estimation is ridiculous. The very fact that a mother would give away her own child proves she doesn't want it. In most cases, it is only in the way and she prefers going on living a life of sin. I would sooner marry a woman who is raising a child born out of wedlock than one who stooped so low as to give her own flesh and blood to strangers. Every child deserves his own blood parents. If this isn't possible, at least one of them. F.D.S.

DEAR F.D.S.: In my opinion every child is entitled to a home in which there are two parents who are happily married, love each other and want a child. Some "blood parents" are no more than a biological accident.

If you have a problem, write to Abigail Van Buren in care of this paper. She will be glad to answer your letter. For a personal reply, please enclose a stamped self-addressed envelope.

Late Afternoon Bride

MRS. MICHAEL ALLAN SEGAL

Two hundred invitations were issued for the wedding of Miss Marjorie Gail Wilson, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Nat J. Wilson, and Michael Allan Segal, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Segal of Greeley, Colo., which was an event of Sunday afternoon, June 29, at Tifereth Israel Synagogue. Rabbi Harold Stern solemnized the 5 o'clock ceremony, and Roger Ellsworth, organist, played the wedding music. William Wagner was the vocal soloist.

The three attendants including Mrs. Robert Simon of Clayton, N. Mex., who was her sister's matron of honor; Mrs. William Berry, the bridesmatron, and Miss Debra Segal of Greeley, Colo., sister of the bridegroom, the junior bridesmaid. With their balloon-skirted frocks of rosemary pink taffeta they carried picture hats filled with pink roses.

Melvin Dinner of Denver served as best man, and the guests were seated by Roger Simon of Clayton, N. Mex.; Albert Dinner, Moreland Fink, both of Denver, and Jay Spivack of Los Angeles.

The bride appeared in a gown of white Chantilly lace over taffeta. The long-sleeved bodice, designed with a sabrina neckline patterned with pearls and iridescent paillettes, was smoothly sculptured above the voluminous skirt which was completed with a narrow dust-ruffle of pleated tulle which also bordered the cathedral train. A filigree crown of pearls held in place her circular veil and she carried white orchids on a white Bible.

After a honeymoon trip to Las Vegas Mr. Segal and his bride will reside in St. Louis where Mr. Segal, a graduate of the University of Nebraska and a member of Zeta Beta Tau fraternity, will enter Washington University School of Dentistry. Mrs. Segal is a former student at Nebraska University and is a member of Sigma Delta Tau sorority.

State 2nd In Per Capita Mental Health Outlay

St. Louis (AP)—Although Nebraska ranked 10th in income per capita and total state expenditures per capita in 1957, the Cornhusker state ranked 2nd in per capita spending for the operation of public mental hospitals and 3rd on a per patient basis, according to a Nebraska Citizens Council official.

And while few states meet recommended standards for the number of physicians and psychiatrists employed related to the number of mentally ill, the Nebraska ratio has improved steadily from one for each 177 patients in 1953 to one to 131 in 1956, said Leonard B. Bronder, NCC research director.

In an address prepared for delivery Monday before the annual Conference of Middle States Taxpayers in St. Louis, Bronder said that converted into the percentage of adequacy, this means Nebraska has risen from 38.2% of the standard in 1953 to 52.2% in 1956.

The midwest average standard of adequacy rose from 31.6% in 1953 to 34.3% in 1956, he said.

Although Nebraska did not measure up to recommended standards insofar as psychologists, social workers and graduate nurses were concerned, Bronder said the state was 37.2% in excess of the standard in the category "other nurses and attendants."

Bronder, of Lincoln, gave a large measure of the credit for Nebraska's advances in the treatment of mental illness to the state's two mental health clinics, located at Hastings and Scottsbluff.

He said current treatment theories for mental illness place weight on treating the mentally sick in their home communities in the same way "that local hospitals provide for treatment for the physically ill."

A third mental health clinic in Nebraska has been proposed for North Platte.

Thousands Attend Church Feast Day

Rome (AP)—About 200,000 pilgrims, tourists and Romans visited St. Peter's Basilica for the Feast Day of St. Peter and St. Paul.

The highlight of the double feast day was a pontifical mass celebrated by Archbishop Primo Principi, pontifical administrator of the Patriarchal Basilica of St. Paul Outside the Walls. Services also were held there.

Pope Pius XII appeared at his apartment window in response to the cheers of the crowds and the honking of tourist bus horns.

Association With Mom, Dad Cited

By Draft Officials

San Rafael, Calif. (AP)—Mrs. Vincent Hallinan said Sunday her son Patrick has been told his draft eligibility will be questioned unless he can "refute the existence of a close and continuing association" with his parents.

The youth's father, an attorney who ran for President in 1952 on the Independent Progressive party ticket, was barred this year from law practice for 3 years. The California Supreme Court suspended him for "callous and brazen indifference" and because of an earlier federal tax evasion conviction.

Mrs. Hallinan said Patrick, 23-year-old University of California student, received the warning in a letter from Army Headquarters in Washington last week. She said the letter described Hallinan and herself as being identified with Communist-front groups. She called the letter a "dreadful and shocking thing" and said it implies there is something wrong in her son "having a close and continuing association with his own mother and father."

"Certainly Butch can't refute the association," she said, "and he's going to continue associating with his mother and father."

Hallinan, 60, was convicted of evading federal taxes in 1954, fined $50,000 and served 15 months in McNeil Island Prison. Earlier, Hallinan served 4½ months for contempt of court stemming from his defense of Harry Bridges during the labor leader's perjury trial.

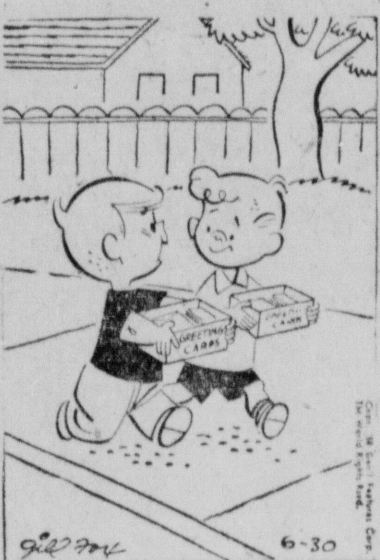

Monument Honoring War Dead Dedicated

Chosi, Japan (AP)—A big flame-shaped monument was dedicated to Filipinos, Japanese and Americans who died during World War II in the Philippines.

Former Prince Naruhiko Higashikuni, uncle of Emperor Hirohito, said the wrongs done the Philippines would never be repeated. He called them blunders and tragedies.

Joseph F. Screen of Cumberland, Md., head of the American Veterans of World War II and The Korean War and Arnold Morrow, commander of the Tokyo Armvets Post, represented American veterans at the ceremony.

U.S.-E. German Talk On 9 Yanks Said Deadlocked

Berlin (UPI)—American officials here admitted Sunday night they had reached a dead end in efforts to secure the release of 9 Americans held by the East German Communists since June 7. The next step will be taken in Washington, they said.

The officials said diplomatic action was stalled pending a reply from the Soviet Union to an emergency demand for the imprisoned men's release made by Washington. The Russians previously refused to intervene in the case.

The men were captured when their helicopter strayed into East German territory during a thunderstorm.

The East Germans attempted to use them to "blackmail" the United States into practical recognition of East Germany as a nation. The Soviet occupation forces said they accepted the East German stand and would not enter the case.

The officials here said the U.S.-East German talks had collapsed completely and that they had no hope or expectation that the discussions would be resumed.

RESUSCITATOR TRY FAILS; 2½-MONTH-OLD BABY DIES

Lincoln Star Special

Beatrice, Neb. — A fire department failed to revive a 2½-month old baby early Sunday morning after a teen-age babysitter called neighbors for help. Harry Truman, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Truman, died of natural causes, according to city physician H. M. Hepperland.

The baby had been in ill health and under a doctor's care previously, according to Dr. Hepperland.

The baby-sitter told police that she and a couple of boys were staying with the baby while the parents were attending a dance. The lights were turned off but one of the boys turned them on momentarily, she told police. She said she happened to glance toward the baby's crib and thought something was wrong. Upon investigation the child appeared to be dead. Neighbors called the fire department, but the resuscitator failed to revive the child.

3 Killed As Fire Hits Detroit Flat

Detroit (AP)—A grandmother, her daughter-in-law and 8-year-old grandson died Sunday when a fire destroyed their second-story flat.

Dead were Mrs. Georgia Lucas, 45, Mrs. Pauline Lucas, 27, and Larry Lucas.

Fire inspector William J. O'Brien said the blaze apparently started from a lighted cigarette tossed into a pile of rubbish at the head of the only stairway in the frame building.

The body of the grandmother was found in a doorway between the kitchen and dining room of the flat. The boy lay next to her.

Palmer Champ In Long Island Tourney As Rap 6 NY Pitchers 12-6

East Norwich, N.Y. (AP) — Shooting a par 71 for his final 18 holes after three straight subpar rounds, Arnold Palmer won the $9,000 Long Island Open Golf tournament Sunday with a 273.

The Latrobe, Pa., pro, with a record round the first day led throughout the 72-hole event. Until the final day, when he held his own, he increased his lead by the end with his scores of 66-69-67 and 71. He won by five strokes.

First it was George Bernardin of Miami Springs, Fla., and the venerable E. D. "Dutch" Harrison of St. Louis who made a run at the leader, finishing two strokes behind him opening day.

Jimmy Demaret of Kam- esha Lake, N.Y., then took over the runnerup spot, but he was three strokes behind at the end of the second day.

Then it was Ted Kroll of Sarasota, Fla., who challenged, and at the end of the third round he was second, five strokes back.

And Sunday, when the runnerup spot meant $4,600 the honor went to Jay Hebert of Sanford, Fla., who shot a 68 to finish with a 278 total.

Don Fairfield of Casey, Ill., held tenaciously to the third spot, and his 70 Sunday and 279 total was good for third. Sam Sneed of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., Kroll, and Bob Rosburg of Palo Alto, tied at 280 for fourth.

The pattern for the final day was set on the first hole. Kroll, playing in the threesome just ahead of Palmer, was only five feet from the pin with his second shot on the par 5 hole. He missed the putt for an eagle, which would have given him two eagles in a row, as he wound up his third round with a two under par.

Palmer was over the green with his second, chipped about 15 feet short, then sank the putt to match Kroll's birdie. So instead of cutting Palmer's margin to three strokes Kroll failed to gain a inch, and he subsequently faded to a 73.

By his victory Palmer increased his earnings to $35,260. His earnings in unofficial events bring the total to $37,564.

He has been in the money in 16 of 19 tournaments this year and he won the Masters and the St. Petersburg Open.

Kansas City (AP) — The Kansas City Athletics, shut out by New York pitching for 19 consecutive innings in three games, clobbered six Yankee pitchers for 15 hits and a 12-6 victory Sunday.

The result salvaged the final game in a series of three for the Athletics, who hadn't been able to score against the Bombers since the second inning of Friday night's 10-3 drubbing.

Hector Lopez, whose third home run of the game salvaged a 12-inning victory for the A's against Washington Thursday night, again was a spark plug. He hit a home run, his eighth of the year, with two out in the fourth. That started a three-run rally that got the Athletics on the road after they had gone five runs down.

Roger Maris, recently acquired from the Cleveland Indians, got his 11th homerun and contributed three singles. One of the singles drove in a run, and he crossed the plate three times himself.

Braves Win 11-6, Up League Margin

Milwaukee (AP)—A four-hit spree by Henry Aaron, including his second grand slam home run of the season, sparked the Milwaukee Braves to a 10-6 victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers Sunday. Del Crandall also hit a homer as the world champions evened the four-game series before a County Stadium crowd of 33,857.

The triumph increased the Braves' lead in the National League race to 2½ games.

Aaron's jackpot blow came in the sixth inning and proved to be the margin of victory when Bob Rush weakened down the stretch. Rush was rocked for four home runs by Charlie Neal and one each by Dick Gray and Carl Furillo, and finally had to be rescued by Gene Conley in the ninth. He received credit for his sixth decision, however, equaling his season total of last year with the Chicago Cubs.

Los Angeles' Milwaukee won the opener 4-3 with a two-run rally in the sixth. Frank Thomas hit his 22nd homer of the year in the opener.

BUSY WEEKEND AHEAD FOR LINCOLN GOLFERS

Capital City golf activity slowed down in the final weekend in June as the local swingers prepared for a heavy holiday workout this week and a long list of tournaments during July.

The Park Valley Open was the only tournament in progress as most of the courses had normal weekend play in preparation for a heavy turnout for special July 4 events this week.

With the courses: Lincoln Country Club

Herb Deurmyer's 72 led scores at the Lincoln Country Club as Floyd Chance chipped in a 74 and Dr. W. W. Carver registered a 78 for 18-hole play. Dr. F. W. Albright's 37 led 9-hole players.

LCC pro Bud Williamson announced special golf events for July 4 along with regular flag events.

Hillcrest

Ray Becker's 69 on Saturday and 71s by Bernie Anderson and Bert Egan Sunday were good for the top positions in Hillcrest's sweepstakes over the weekend in the only special events on tap.

Top scores were 76s by Gene Chadwell and Ed Smith and 77s by Becker, Emil Frank and Jack McCuiston.

John Reinhardt had an eagle 3 on the long No. 1 hole, dropping in a 20-foot putt.

Hillcrest pro Bonnie Richards announced 36-hole best ball men's partner play along with flag events for the holiday weekend. The Hillcrest men's club tourney is underway this week, with first round play to be completed by next Sunday. Pairings are available at the pro shop.

Pioneers

Searing heat and high winds kept Pioneers scores down over the weekend, but Pioneers reported a turnout of 675 golfers with Emmett Taylor's 77 leading the scores.

Joe Gifford fired a 78 while Marv Bradsky and Phil Breitfelder each shot 79s. Joe Stefkovich scored an eagle 2 on the 390-yard No. 9 hole.

Cincy By 2-0

Cincinnati (AP)—Tall Al Worthington's taut four-hit performance plus a helping hand in the ninth inning from Johnny Antonelli helped San Francisco's Giants shut out Cincinnati's Redlegs, 2-0, Sunday and cling to the National League's third place.

Worthington lost his chance for a complete game in the ninth inning to a pinch-hitter after fanning three Redlegs and walking one.

His only trouble spot came in the fifth inning when the Redlegs collected two hits—singles by Ed Bailey and Roy McMillan—with two out, but Don Newcombe fled out to end the streak.

Record Breaking Swimmers

Nancy Ramey (left), who Sunday gave herself a world record performance as an 18th birthday present, enjoys a laugh with Sylvia Ruuska, 15-year-old Berkeley, Calif., swimmer, who also set a world record during the current International Invitational swim meet. Nancy won a heat in the women's 200-meter butterfly in record time of 2:40.5 after earlier cracking the 100-meter butterfly record with a time of 1:09.6. Sylvia broke her own mark in the individual 400-meter medley. (AP Wirephoto)

Los Angeles (AP)—Australia's Murray Rose again defeated his Japanese rival, Tsuyoshi Yamanaka in the 400-meter freestyle, and did it in record time, but major laurels went to Japan's national team as the International Invitational swim meet wound up Sunday.

Rose and Yamanaka put on the thrill race of the bright afternoon, with Rose the winner in 4:25.5 to better the record he still holds on the books at 4:25.9, set last year.

Rose's young countryman, Jon Konrads, however, has a time of 4:21.8 up for approval after making it this year.

World and American records were targets all afternoon as the three day meet concluded.

Takashi Ishimoto of the seven-man Japanese team broke his own world record in the 100-meter butterfly event—1:00.1 as against his 1:01.0 set last year.

Four Japanese capped the program with a record in the 400 meter medley relay. Their time was 4:16.7, breaking the applied-for mark they set recently in the Asiatic Games at 4:17.2.

FIRST STEP TO HARNESS ATOM FOR NEBRASKA

W. P. Venable of Columbus, official of Consumers Public Power District, and a heavy bulldozer cooperate to break sod for the new nuclear reactor power plant facilities near Hallam this weekend. Nearly 2,000 witnessed the ceremonies.

Formalities Over, Work On A-Power Plant Set

By Bill Anderson
Dust swirled and vanished as the giant tractor gouged a new chapter in Nebraska power history out of a green hillside near the tiny town of Hallam, Neb. — the site for the only atomic power plant in the state—one of the pioneer stations of the atomic age.

Named Sheldon Station after C. C. Sheldon, Columbus businessman and long-time treasurer of the Consumers Public Power District, builders of the plant, the new station is scheduled for completion in the spring of 1961.

Bridgeport Rodeo Slated July 4, 5

Bridgeport, Neb. — Bridgeport is getting ready for what is believed to be the largest amateur rodeo in the state—if not in the Great Plains and Rocky Mountain area. The affair, sponsored by the Morrill County Fair Assn., will be held at the fair grounds here the nights of July 4 and 5.

In past years entrants have been attracted from neighboring states, although most of the riders and ropers are Nebraska products — “working cowboys”. The program each night will consist of saddle bronc riding, bareback bronc riding, calf roping and bulldogging.

In addition, on the night of July Fourth, there will be fireworks and a pavilion dance.

Although not a Fourth of July celebration in the strictest sense—there is no daytime program—hundreds are attracted to spend a quiet day at one of the city parks here or at nearby Bridgeport Lakes State Recreation Grounds. With fair weather capacity crowds are anticipated at the evening programs.

98th Birthday

Cook, Neb. — Mrs. Hannah Gabrielson, Cook's oldest resident, celebrated her 98th birthday Sunday. The Pioneer Nebraskan is now bedridden and lives with her daughter, Mrs. Esther Gustafson.

Demos Start Vote Drive Sept. 11-13

Des Moines (AP) — The Democratic party will launch a drive for midwest votes in the November general election at a 13-state conference in Omaha Sept. 11-13.

Chairman Jake More of the Iowa Democratic party and of the Midwest Conference announced plans for the meeting.

“We expect this meeting to be the springboard for our most successful campaign in the midwest since the late 1930s,” More said. The once solidly Republican 13-state area now has 6 governors, 9 senators and 51 representatives who are Democrats, he said.

“The conference will not be for fund-raising purposes, although it will be self-supporting,” he said.

A banquet, women's functions, public rally and separate sessions to consider such topics as agriculture, labor, railroads, economy and planning for world peace will be held.

Bernard Boyle of Omaha, national committeeman from Nebraska, will be general chairman of the meeting.

Fracture Cause Of Omaha Death

Omaha (AP)—Acting Coroner George Sullivan said the death of Sam Belfiore, 78, Saturday was due to a basal skull fracture.

Belfiore was found unconscious between 2 parked cars and he died about 2 hours later at a hospital.

Sullivan said residents in the neighborhood heard no sounds of a fight or scuffle, and that the victim's clothes “were very clean, bore no marks of a fight.”

Detectives are continuing the investigation after relatives said Belfiore carried a billfold, which was not found on the victim.

SITE OKAYED

Bassett, Neb. — The Rock County commissioners and county hospital board approved a site in south Bassett for construction of the county's $336,000 hospital.

The site is located on the south edge of the city east of U.S. 183. It was one of several under consideration, and had approval of the hospital architects as the most favorable site.

The county has applied for federal funds to finance 40% of the construction.

as part of the day's ceremonies.

Crowds also turned out for the afternoon dedication of volunteer-built airport run-way lights which Civil Air Patrol Commander Robert J. Lynn formally handed over to Ord Mayor Dale Karre. Rep. A. L. Miller spoke briefly to the audience on the future of both civil and military aviation during the ceremonies.

The 2nd annual Valley County Conservation Air Tour planes managed to airlift almost all of crowd registering for the trip. Planes from Lincoln, Broken Bow, Kearney and Loup City helped out Ord pilots with the capacity turnout.

Local businessmen donated money for air tour expenses. The local CAP donated labor for installation of the new run-way lights.
